

President Sees Drought Damage

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

LITERARY DEPT.: I'm going to wring lu murphy dry. A couple of weeks ago or longer, you remember, I wrote about Missy lu and her book, "Maiden Effort." I got a lot of mileage out of the fact that an Eldorado girl wrote a book, extending my wordage into two columns.

Now I have received quite an epistle from lu, who now resides in Louisville, Kentucky, and I am going to let my reading public in on part of it.

Says she:

"Thirty nine minutes ago I received from my mother (who lives in Broughton) the columns you wrote about her favorite topic of conversation. Me!

"It was beyond the call and also over for you to do this.

"The time element mentioned above can be broken down roughly thusly: 24 minutes memorizing columns; 8 minutes searching both papers for a friendly name, face, or sign. (All that got me was a two column fashion ad showing a wool jersey sheath for $17.99—that I just paid $59.95 for yesterday); 7 minutes reflection."

We will not go into the reflection but you might remember, I listed her relatives when I had my write-up. I left out some. Just listen:

"And yes, you did leave out an uncle. My Uncle Hub. And Grandma and Irene and Aunt Jane who married Uncle Ralph who was Grandpa's third boy between Uncle John and Aunt Irene. I think . . .

"Anyway, please know how much I appreciate your being kind to Eldorado girls who write books. Especially in a Harrisburg paper. It's funny about Harrisburg. I've been to the usual places like Paris and New York . . . but Harrisburg, Illinois, will always be, to me, the most sophisticated, elegant, biggest place in the world.

"And the collection of inspirational studies? (That's her book). Well, you may not believe this, but people are buying it who aren't even kin to me."

It was a nice letter, these words from the Girl of Gum Switch, Francis Mills and Rector Bottoms.

Farley Explains Shawnee Hills Aims At Rotary Meeting

The Rotary club held its weekly meeting Monday noon at Santy's cafe with Attorney Don Scott in charge of the program.

William Farley from the Illinois Public Aid Commission was introduced as the guest speaker by Scott. Mr. Farley, who is president of the Saline county organization of the Shawnee Hills Recreation association, spoke on the aims and objectives of that group. He stated that by using publicity this area could create more jobs and the business places would prosper from tourists who would stop and see our scenic wonders. He urged the members of the club to join the Saline county organization, which already has a membership of seventy-five. Mr. Farley then showed slides of the many different places in southern Illinois that would be of interest to the tourist.

Four honor students from the high school were guests of the club. They were: Senior, Alice-nell Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bean, 315 West South; junior, Elizabeth Klein, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Klein, 204 North Webster; sophomore, Kay Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mitchell, 201 South Mill; and freshman, Richard Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byford Wiley, who live at 112 West Homer.

The prize, a $50.00 U. S. Savings Bond, will be presented to Miss Davis at the annual meeting of the Saline Soil Conservation District, Monday night, Feb. 11, at Eldorado.

Writing on the subject, "Dimes to Dollars thru Soil Conservation," 32 students from the four high schools in the county entered the contest. A prize of $15.00 in cash is awarded to the individual writing the best essay in each of the high schools. The individual school winners are: Ralph Gann, Galatia; Robert Mitchell, Carrier Mills; Duane Lovellette, Harrisburg; and Eva Lee Hopkins, Eldorado.

The number of students entering the contest this year (1956) was 60% greater than in 1955. Eldorado Township high school led in number of entrants having 16 submitting essays. Harrisburg Township high school had 13 entrants, Carrier Mills Community high school had two and Galatia Community high school one.

Mr. Gholson states the district directors are pleased with the interest shown in the contest this year and have included the contest in their program of activities for 1957. He says so far as can be determined at the present time the contest is very likely to be continued each year so long as the students and school administrators indicate an interest in having it continue.

Mr. Gardner pointed out the quality of the essays entered was very high and competition for awards was extremely keen.

Mr. Rutledge was a member of the Eldorado First Methodist church and of the Odd Fellows lodge.

The body was returned to the residence from the Martin funeral home at 4 p. m. today to lie in state until the funeral service, which will be held Thursday, at the Methodist church. Rev. C. C. Lowe, Bridgeport, will assist the pastor, Rev. A. B. Clodfelter, and burial will be at Cottage Grove cemetery.

NO WORD OF INSPECTION OF BARTER SITE
No word has been received by J. D. Barter regarding an inspection of his proposal for a federal prison site, it was learned today.

It was learned that Barter received acknowledgment from the Bureau of Prisons that his proposal had been received but has received no word of an inspection of the land, which lies in Pope and Hardin counties south of Harrisburg.

The body is at the Harrisburg funeral home and funeral plans are awaiting word from the son.

Shivers Names 'Ike' Democrat

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers, as his last official act before leaving office, today appointed William A. Blakely, a Dallas attorney and an "Eisenhower Democrat," to succeed Gov.-elect Price Daniel in the Senate.

The appointment of an Eisenhower partisan posed an immediate threat to the slim Democratic control of the upper chamber.

However, there was no immediate indication whether Blakely will challenge the Democratic hold on the Senate by voting with the Republicans. This would result in a 48-48 tie, and throw control to the GOP when Vice President Richard Nixon would cast his tie-breaking vote.

Daniel takes office as governor of Texas today, succeeding Shivers.

In Washington, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said Blakely will vote with the Democrats.

Investigate Fire Fatal to Retired Farmer at Grayville

GRAYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Police today investigated a fire that killed Mathew Johnson, 70, a retired farmer, but did little damage to his house trailer.

Authorities said Johnson apparently suffered a heart attack and fell forward onto a nearby gas stove or oil heater. The flames ignited his clothes but did not burn the trailer.

Coroner Milaz Cozart scheduled an inquest into Johnson's death for tonight.

The fire was discovered by a passerby, Joselyn Leek. She informed a nearby tavern owner who put out the flames with a fire extinguisher.

Miss Hilda Davis of Eldorado Wins Soil Conservation Essay Contest

Miss Hilda Davis, Eldorado, is the winner of the Grand Champion prize in the second annual Soil Conservation Essay contest sponsored by the Saline County Soil Conservation District, according to a joint announcement by Raymond "Pete" Gardner, county superintendent of schools, and Alva Gholson, chairman of the Saline Soil Conservation District.

The prize, a $50.00 U. S. Savings Bond, will be presented to Miss Davis at the annual meeting of the Saline Soil Conservation District, Monday night, Feb. 11, at Eldorado.

Writing on the subject, "Dimes to Dollars thru Soil Conservation," 32 students from the four high schools in the county entered the contest. A prize of $15.00 in cash is awarded to the individual writing the best essay in each of the high schools. ### Hears Farmers', Ranchers' Views And Proposals

Will End Tour
At Wichita with Conference Today

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (AP)—President Eisenhower flew back eastward today for a close look at the effects of one of the country's worst droughts in Colorado and Kansas.

The President spent Monday talking to farmers and ranchers and making on-the-spot investigations in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

He spent the night at Davis Monthan Air Force Base in Tucson, Ariz., and took off today for Pueblo, Colo., where he planned an automobile trip through the countryside.

Mr. Eisenhower met a group of Arizonians at breakfast today and listened to their troubles and recommendations for relief. They asked for extension of the emergency hay subsidy to include cottonseed feed.

The last two points Mr. Eisenhower will visit before his plane takes off for Washington tonight are Garden City and Wichita, Kan.

The weather was cold and cloudy at Garden City and Wichita. Garden City reported a temperature of 9 degrees at 8:30 a. m. but White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said the presidential plane will land anyway.

At Wichita, where his 4,500-mile drought tour will end, Mr. Eisenhower will speak before a special drought conference, including representatives from 15 states.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson called the Wichita conference to discuss ways and means of offsetting the economic effects of dry periods that have plagued the Great Plains for the last eight years.

Mr. Eisenhower is not expected to offer any administration plans for drought relief at the Wichita meeting. Aides have indicated he will wait for plans to come from the meeting itself.

Mother, 3 Children Missing in Fire

SALINE, Mich. (AP)—A mother and three young children were missing and presumed burned to death in an early morning fire which nearly destroyed three Main Street buildings.

Firemen were still searching through the rubble for the bodies of Mrs. Barbara Gibson and her three children, Dianne, 3, David, 1½, and Gary, 5 months.

He leaves his wife, Jane; one daughter, Mrs. Howard Whitacre of Lincoln Park, Mich.; three brothers, Elmer, Vernon and Volle Rutledge, all of Detroit, Mich.; and one sister, Mrs. Bertie Ann Dibble, of Detroit.

Mr. Rutledge was a member of the Eldorado First Methodist church and of the Odd Fellows lodge.

The body was returned to the residence from the Martin funeral home at 4 p. m. today to lie in state until the funeral service, which will be held Thursday, at the Methodist church. Rev. C. C. Henry Lewis, 23, and William Allen, 24, were found shivering and cold in a wooded area about one mile east of the hospital. They had been gone from the hospital about nine hours. Westerhausen was captured 2 1/2 hours after the escape.

The inmates, working on a kitchen detail, overpowered guard Jack Gordon and then scaled a 12-foot fence to escape. Lewis and Allen managed to grab three extra suits of underwear apiece for the frigid

Peewed at Boyfriend Woman Irons Tattooed Name Off Her Legs

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Nurses at El Paso General Hospital revealed Monday night that a 43-year-old woman got mad at her boy friend and used a flat-iron to remove his name that was tattooed on each of her legs.

The woman succeeded in taking off the names, as well as several inches of skin, nurses said.

She walked into the hospital Monday with second and third degree burns on each leg.

She said she got mad at her boy friend Sunday night and decided the best way to remove the tattoos was by ironing them off.

"You know how it is, honey," she told a nurse. "I just don't love him anymore."

"I don't know how it is, but we treated the burns anyway," the nurse said afterwards.

Medical Men Study Leukemia Cure of Boy, 5

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Admittedly puzzled medical men meet here today to review the case history of 5-year-old Tommy Eithun who may have broken through one-in-10-million odds by recovering from leukemia.

Eighteen months ago physicians diagnosed Tommy as a victim of leukemia—cancer of the blood for which there is no known cure. Monday, his blood count was normal.

Tommy's doctor, however, cautioned that "it would be cruel to parents of other children with leukemia to believe that we have cured the disease."

The doctor, who asked that his name not be revealed, said today's meeting is merely to hear a review of the case and not necessarily to arrive at any conclusion.

Undiscovered Treatment

He said ethical reasons prohibit him from making known the treatment used or the exact diagnoses except to other doctors. He said, however, that it is possible Tommy never had leukemia.

The doctor said there were three possibilities as to Tommy's condition. One was that he could have had a disease that "looked like" leukemia but really wasn't and he recovered. Another was that he could now have leukemia but has had a "remission" so that the disease could flare up again. Finally, he said, Tommy could have had leukemia and recovered, despite his having only "one chance in 10-million."

Recovery Called Miraculous

Today's meeting, a regularly scheduled gathering of the State Medical Society, will hear other case histories of various diseases in addition to Tommy's, the doctor said. But it was expected that the medical riddle of the boy's recovery, which his father, Norbert, of nearby De Forest, Wis., called "miraculous," would be near the top of the agenda.

The doctor said he would continue to work on Tommy's case. He said he has used the same treatment for other children and "they are all dead."

He said that he would make tests on the boy "for years to come" and that each month that passes without a recurrence of the symptoms "is in Tommy's favor."

No Relief In Sight from Frigid Cold Wave; 16 Die

SALINE RIVER BRIDGE just south of Equality, damaged Oct. 18 to such an extent it had to be closed to traffic, is now being repaired. S. A. Billingsley of Mt. Erie, Ill., has a contract to repair the damaged section of the bridge for a little more than $900. Mr. Billingsley also is to examine other parts of the bridge and if it is found additional repair is necessary that work also will be completed and paid on a flat daily scale. The north end of the bridge was demolished when a heavy trailer-truck, driven by Howard Connell, crashed through the floor. Mr. Connell, driving a Central and Southern Truck Lines trailer and truck, was killed in the accident. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Death Takes James Denny, 79, Retired Miner

James Denny, 79, retired miner who resided at 504 West South, died at 9:02 p. m. Monday at the Anna state hospital. He had been seriously ill the past month. He last worked at Wasson mine.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Denny and was born June 30, 1877, in Hopkins County, Ky.

He was married to the former Ruby Jones, who preceded him in death, and to them were born eight children, two of whom preceded him in death. Six are surviving: Mrs. G. G. Gatten, Amarillo, Texas; Mrs. C. C. Terry, Mt. Carmel, Mrs. C. C. Crawford, Fairfield, Mrs. Beulah Higginbotham of Chicago, Mrs. Paul Horsman, Kent, Wash., Jack Denny, Pomeroy, Wash. He also leaves one brother, Lee Denny, Eldorado, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

In 1935 he married the former Lalia Peak who died in 1956. He was a member of the Missionary Baptist church at Hansen Station, Ky. The body lies in state at Gaskins funeral home and arrangements will be announced later.

He told the mass meeting the unity of the Negroes "will soon cause the oppressor to become ashamed of his own methods."

Four Negro churches and the homes of two ministers were bombed early last Thursday. King said the violence was "the most startling and appalling expression of man's inhumanity to man."

Buses at Montgomery remained idle today as a result of the bombings.

Prison Teams Inspect Sites

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP)—Vandalia and Litchfield are on the agenda today for a fast-moving inspection team looking over possible sites in southern Illinois for location of a 10-million-dollar federal prison.

The team, headed by Myrl Alexander, assistant director of the Bureau of Prisons, spent Monday in the Salem-Centralia-Mount Vernon area after inspecting a site at West Frankfort earlier in the day.

The team indicated that West Frankfort still is "in the running" for the location of the prison.

Alexander said they were impressed by the joint bid of the cities of Salem, Centralia and Mt. Vernon. Nashville, Fairfield and Clinton county also endorsed the tri-city bid Monday.

The group began its inspections Saturday at Lawrenceville and moved down to the Crab Orchard Lake area Sunday.

Another team inspected a site east of Metropolis Sunday and was in the Cairo area Monday.

NO WORD OF INSPECTION OF BARTER SITE
No word has been received by J. D. Barter regarding an inspection of his proposal for a federal prison site, it was learned today.

It was learned that Barter received acknowledgment from the Bureau of Prisons that his proposal had been received but has received no word of an inspection of the land, which lies in Pope and Hardin counties south of Harrisburg.

Minister Leads Gandhi-Like Non-Violence Policy in South

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Negro leaders of the deep South's bus integration movement embarked today on a Gandhi-like non-violence policy which they hope will "shame" white extremists who dynamite churches and homes in Montgomery.

The Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the Montgomery movement, declared the policy Monday night at a mass meeting of Negroes and then collapsed and had to be helped to his seat.

"If anyone is killed, let it be me," King said in an emotion-charged prayer.

About 500 Negroes attending the rally acclaimed King's leadership with a deafening outburst of shouting and weeping that lasted 15 minutes.

King said segregationist extremists would have to dynamite 50,000 homes—not just two—to dissuade them from their cause.

He told the mass meeting the unity of the Negroes "will soon cause the oppressor to become ashamed of his own methods."

Four Negro churches and the homes of two ministers were bombed early last Thursday. King said the violence was "the most startling and appalling expression of man's inhumanity to man."

Buses at Montgomery remained idle today as a result of the bombings.

Rites Wednesday
For Mrs. Carl Corrie

The funeral of Mrs. Carl Corrie, Dorris Heights resident who died early Monday morning at the Lighter hospital, will be Wednesday at 11 a. m. at the Gaskins funeral chapel. The Rev. Glen Daugherty will officiate and burial will be in Lawrenceville, Ill.

Mrs. Shaw was the last of a large family. She was a member of the First Christian church. The body will lie in state in the Harrisburg funeral chapel. The funeral hour and place are not decided but burial will be in Liberty cemetery.

Three Insane Escapees Back in Custody After Frigid Freedom Venture

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Three criminally insane escapees from the Menard State Prison Security Hospital were back in custody today following a short-lived taste of freedom in zero temperatures.

Robert Westerhausen, 36, described as the most dangerous of the trio, appeared to be suffering from exposure after being flushed out of an abandoned house near the Mississippi riverfront here Monday. He was cold only in thin white pants and shirt.

Henry Lewis, 23, and William Allen, 24, were found shivering and cold in a wooded area about one mile east of the hospital. They had been gone from the hospital about nine hours. Westerhausen was captured 2 1/2 hours after the escape.

The inmates, working on a kitchen detail, overpowered guard Jack Gordon and then scaled a 12-foot fence to escape. Lewis and Allen managed to grab three extra suits of underwear apiece for the frigid venture to freedom on the Illinois countryside.

More than 100 persons participated in the search. Authorities said they "combed every inch" of the surrounding farmland.

John Zeidler, assistant hospital superintendent, said Lewis apparently was headed back to the hospital when caught. Allen was found huddling in brush grass a short time earlier. He said both men didn't seem to mind being taken back to the hospital and bundled into bed.

Lewis had a badly bruised leg, which authorities said probably resulted in his jump from the fence. Westerhausen appeared to be suffering from exposure, they said. All men were scheduled to undergo a medical checkup.

Prison authorities said they "stand the chance of suffering pneumonia."

They said that when one of the men, Lewis, began to warm up he told them, "I'm glad to be back."

50 Below Zero Hits Upper New York State

No Relief Seen
As New Arctic Air
Hits Plains Areas

By United Press

No relief was in sight today from a frigid cold wave that has gripped most of the nation, causing at least 16 deaths.

While the East continued to shiver through zero to sub-zero weather, a new invasion of Arctic air blew into the Northern Plains, whipping up fresh snow storms.

Temperatures plunged to as low as 50 degrees below zero Monday in upper New York state. At New York City, the mercury dipped to 3 degrees above zero at 4 a. m. today, making it the coldest day since Feb. 3, 1955 when a reading of zero was recorded.

Temperatures moderated overnight in the North and Central Plains, the Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes, but still hovered near the zero mark.

The coldest overnight readings, however, were reported in upper New York and in New England.

Monday, Mountain View, N. Y., had 50 below; Massena, N. Y., 45 below; Albany 24 below and Syracuse 17 below. A reading of 20 below was reported at Burlington, Vt.

Fatal Home Fires

New York Monday had a low of 7.8, the coldest since Dec. 31, 1955.

Three deaths due to cold and exposure occurred in New York state, two in New England and one in Iowa.

In the Midwest, a rash of fatal home fires broke out in the cold belt. Three children were killed and four others were injured in two fires at East St. Louis, Ill. A home fire at Jordan, Iowa, forced seven members of a farm family to flee into below zero temperatures.

At Winchester, Va., three persons were killed when their car skidded out of control on an ice-covered highway and crashed into a farm truck. Killed were Lloyd J. Cantrell, 28, Wise, Va.; Bernard O. Cantrell, about 25, also of Wise, and Joseph H. Millins of Annandale, Va., near Washington.

A traffic crash at Michigan City, Ind., blamed on icy highways killed Joseph Burl Jr., of Benton Harbor, Mich., and three persons were killed in weather-caused accidents in Pennsylvania.

Predict Colder
Weather in State

By United Press

A new invasion of Arctic air swept toward Illinois today and the weatherman predicted another onslaught of sub-zero weather.

The Weather Bureau at Chicago reported there was a "gradual warming trend" in most of northern Illinois Monday night.

Temperatures fell to zero and a few degrees below that at some points, but then began climbing slowly.

However, forecasters said a new mass of cold air was advancing on the state from the northwest and would drive the mercury downward again tonight.

The forecast called for readings of zero to 5 below at Chicago, and from 10 to 15 below in northwestern Illinois, with slightly warmer temperatures in southern Illinois.

Clark Rites

The New Prime Minister

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The choice of Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan to be Britain's new prime minister is a victory for a statesman who above all may be able to repair the damaged British-American alliance.

At the same time it does not represent a repudiation of Sir Anthony Eden's Suez policy, since Macmillan was much more closely identified with it than was his rival for the premiership, Lord Privy Seal Richard A. Butler.

Perhaps Macmillan's prime advantage at this moment is the fact that during World War II he was associated with and became a good friend of President Eisenhower. As Undersecretary of State for the Colonies, he was a trouble-shooter in Mediterranean affairs which were closely linked with Allied offensives in that region.

It was commonly said that there was little hope of re-establishing a condition of trust between Washington and London so long as Eden remained prime minister. The President and his diplomatic leaders have never forgiven him for moving against Suez without informing them.

Macmillan's ties with Mr. Eisenhower may have been uppermost in the minds of such men as Sir Winston Churchill and the Marquess of Salisbury, head of the House of Lords, when they consulted with Queen Elizabeth II on her choice.

But unquestionably other factors were prominent in the decision. By choosing a man not distant from Eden's Suez stance, the Conservatives avoid inflaming their noisy right wing extremists. Of course by the same token, this makes the Labor opposition less happy and probably will heighten that party's demands for an early election.

An election to test Macmillan may be necessary before too long in any event, so perhaps this is a secondary consideration.

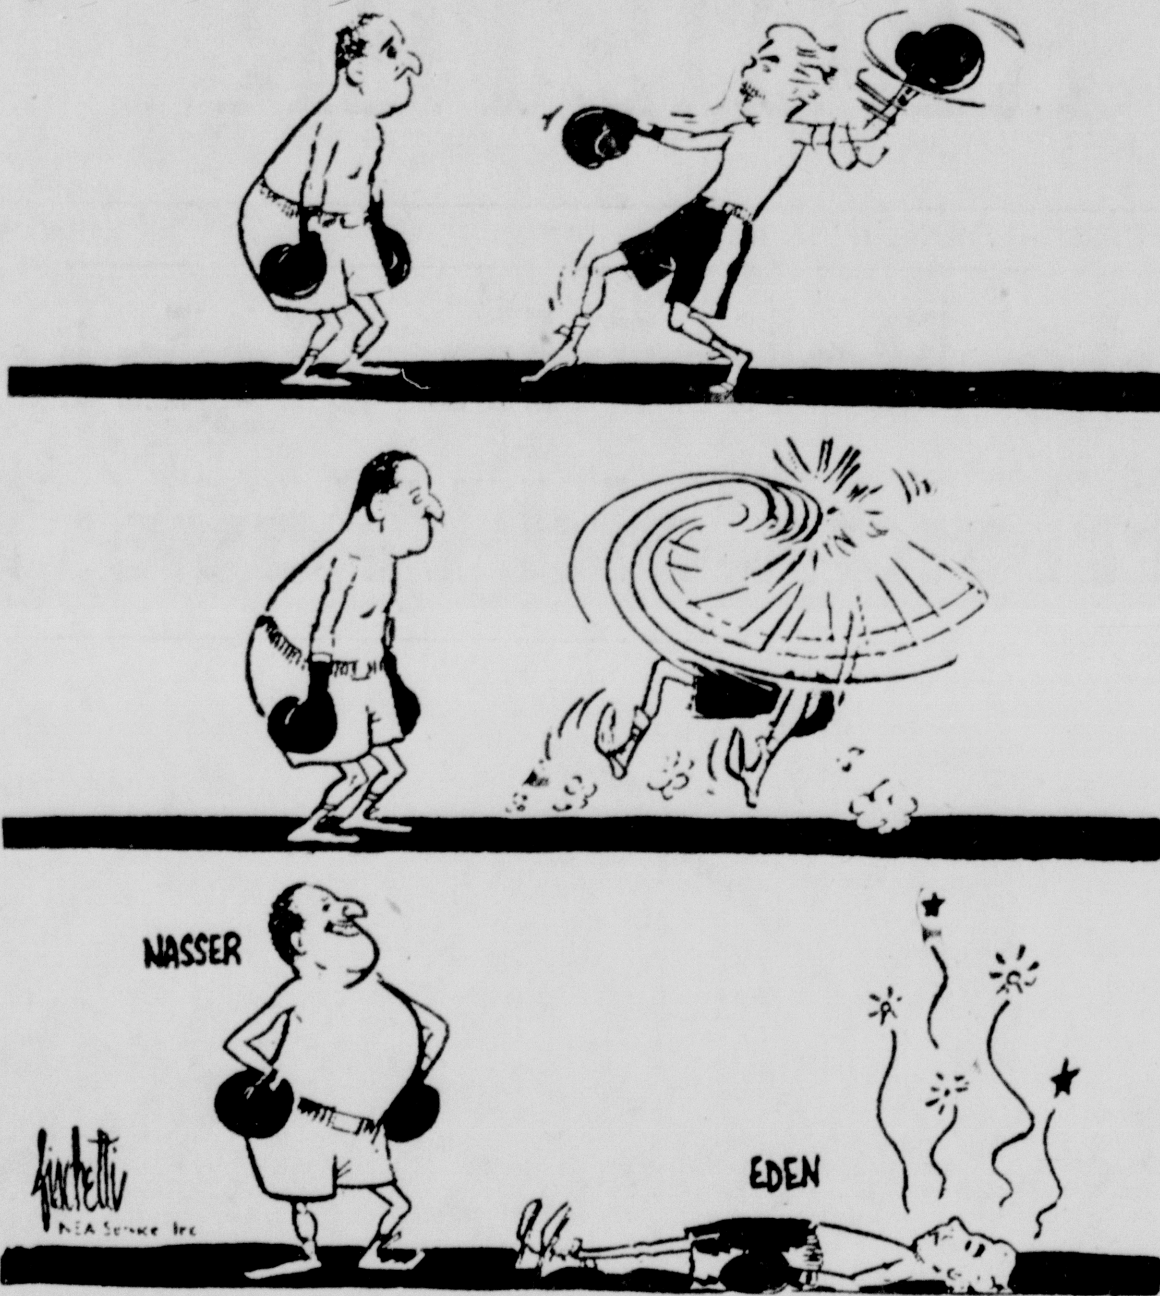

The 62-year-old Macmillan had certain other good marks for the job he won. He is a man of long political experience, with a widely varied career embracing virtually every important field of government, including foreign affairs and finance.

Butler, by contrast, was a relative newcomer to top politics, a flashy intellectual comet who ruffled a good many party tempers as he swished by. He did not look like the man most likely to bring unity.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Knowland Made His First Retirement Announcement By Mistake On Recorded Radio Broadcast; He Had Intended To Announce After Eisenhower's Inauguration; McCarthy Booms J. Edgar Hoover For President.

WASHINGTON. — Re. I truth is that a slip of the tongue on a recorded broadcast was what caused Sen. William Knowland to shake up the politicians with the announcement that he would not run again.

Knowland was telling the truth, as usual, when he said he wanted to spend more time with his family. However, other factors were also involved.

It's true that Mrs. Knowland, who has two daughters and several grandchildren back in California, has been emotionally tied to them and anxious to be back in California. The senator calls her frequently from his office during the day. His father is still a vigorous publisher of the Oakland Tribune, despite the age of 83, but has also been talking about having the senator come home.

In the background also is friction between Knowland and the young man whose meteoric rise in private industry. It is good news, therefore, that he has promised to stay at his post during President Eisenhower's second term.

People no longer need to be told that Mitchell has earned the esteem of both business and labor leaders in his tenure in the Cabinet. Few who have ever occupied the job have managed to gain such balanced regard.

Indeed, more than almost anyone in the Eisenhower Cabinet, Mitchell perhaps represents the blend the President favors of good hard economic sense and warm human consideration in treating of the average American's daily problems.

We do not have many economic statesmen—men who can place the problems of industry and labor against a broad backdrop where the national need comes first and special privilege is canceled out. Mitchell seems to be the one, in the judgment of those who deal with him at every level.

has threatened to nudge him out of any ambitions for the presidency — Richard M. Nixon.

This has been apparent to close observers for some time and cropped up again in a minor incident which no one knew about.

When Republican leaders, called to the White House for a conference, were about to leave, Nixon was asked to stay behind. He was singled out from other Republican leaders, including Knowland, for special advice.

It was a small incident, but fits into the general White House pattern of bypassing Knowland when Sherman Adams wants anything done on Capitol Hill.

The Knowland-Nixon feud was patched up last summer, and the senator emphatically came to Nixon's support against Stassen. In return he was promised a greater part in molding American foreign policy. But last fall at the United Nations, Knowland, a delegate, found himself forced to make statements in flat disagreement with Eisenhower policy.

As the Senate opened, there came another showdown. Knowland tried to dissuade Nixon from making a statement against Rule 22 protecting the right to filibuster.

"I have no other choice," Nixon answered, implying that his statement represented the considered policy of the Eisenhower administration.

"The President runs the Executive branch, but I'm running the Senate," Knowland is quoted by friends as replying.

KNOWLAND'S SLIP

All these factors had contributed to Knowland's decision to retire. But he expected to make his decision after inauguration day, January 20. This he thought was fair to the President, yet would give him a fair degree of independence during the remaining two years.

A slip of the tongue on a CBS broadcast, however, caused him to announce in January 7, two weeks in advance. Griffing Bancroft was transcribing his "Capitol Cloakroom" program on Monday morning for release at 9:30 that night. Knowland was his guest. Bancroft asked if the senator had any plans to run for President in 1960, got a noncommittal answer; and then with only 30 seconds to go, and more or less to fill up time, he asked:

"Do you plan to seek re-election in 1960?"

"No, I do not," Knowland replied, and immediately wished he had kept his mouth shut.

This was Monday morning. By Monday afternoon the senator from California decided that it wasn't fair to give such an announcement to one newsmen over a commercial program, so called a press conference and made the statement that set Washington buzzing.

J. EDGAR HOOVER FOR PRESIDENT

Sen. Joe McCarthy, who began the Senate session with a wild attack on President Eisenhower, is trying to drum a presidential boom for FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

Joe boasts privately that he can get his Texas oil friends to finance Hoover's campaign. They don't like Ike's "modern Republicanism," are sore at him for vetoing the natural gas bill, says Joe.

McCarthy claims the wide publicity given the book "The FBI Story" is only the beginning of Hoover's build-up for the GOP presidential nomination. The big issue in 1960, Joe predicts honestly, will be communism. He charges Ike has been coddling Communists, claims the country needs a fighting anti-Red like Hoover.

McCarthy's Hoover-for-President boom, however, is embarrassing the FBI.

"We aren't responsible for what Joe does," the FBI's affable press agent, Lou Nichols, told this column.

Note 1 — McCarthy's greatest claim to respectability, since his political decline, is his friendship with the FBI head. Joe frequently quotes what Hoover said about him while they were staying in the same hotel at La Jolla near San Diego, when the G-man praised McCarthy.

Note 2 — Lou Nichols has been busy ingratiating himself with key senators, who have the impression he is grooming himself to be Hoover's heir-apparent. To this Lou modestly replies: "My only desire is to serve Mr. Hoover."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D. Written for NEA Service

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein." This bit of scripture is well known but passed over lightly when we count our human possessions.

We are inclined to think that we own the world and incidentally let God hold a mortgage for it. We are sure that He will never foreclose the mortgage. He exacts no rent and no taxes. Everything is ours.

If the world is ours we are not treating it as a valued possession. If it is God's, we are not very good tenants. We ought to get busy and put as much in order as we can so that we can deserve the use of our portion.

In this new year we have some big responsibilities toward God which would incidentally be helpful to our fellow men.

Expect Eisenhower To Propose Record $72 Billion Budget

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower is expected to send Congress Wednesday a record peacetime budget calling for total spending of $72 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The budget, however, will be a balanced one because revenue in the new fiscal year is expected to exceed spending.

Cadillac

Pride of the Neighborhood!

It is a happy occasion indeed when a new Cadillac first appears in the driveway of its happy owner.

As you would expect, it signals the most joyful of family celebrations—and occasions the heartfelt congratulations of friends and acquaintances.

But you might be surprised, we think, to learn of the widespread rejoicing which the arrival of a new Cadillac frequently inspires.

In fact, the car invariably becomes a source of genuine pride and satisfaction throughout the entire neighborhood in which it resides.

The neighborhood understandably delights in having a beautiful new Cadillac to grace its streets . . . and takes great pleasure in knowing that one of its own has been able to realize the dream that lives in the hearts of so many.

And we think you might also be surprised to learn that this happy event is currently taking place in a great many neighborhoods that have never before laid claim to a Cadillac car.

For there is an ever-growing awareness that Cadillac—with all its incomparable motoring virtues—is one of the soundest and wisest purchases a motorist can make.

From a standpoint of purchase price, maintenance, operation and resale value, the car represents a truly extraordinary investment.

Surely, in view of this, you should consider a Cadillac this year.

We will be happy to put you behind the wheel at any time for a personal demonstration.

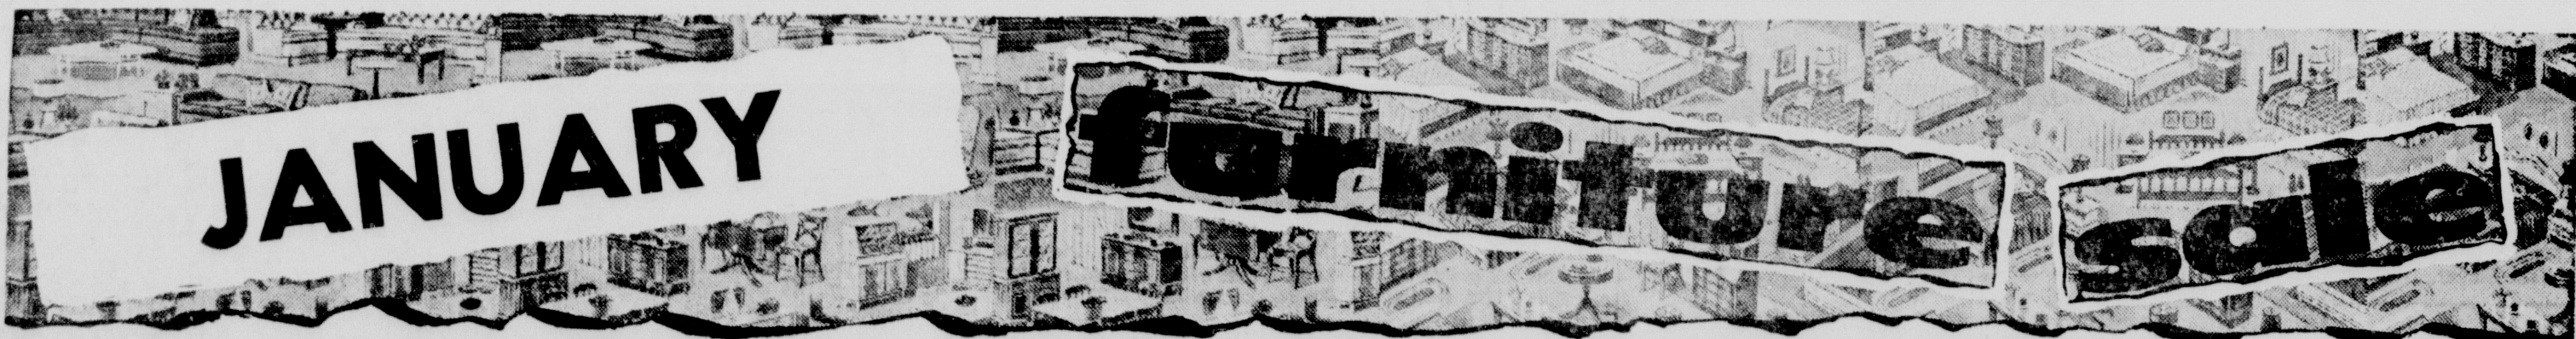

In fact, why not come in and see us today?

Mrs. D. H. Hiller
Chairman of Entertaining Musical Program, "Brigadoon"

Members and guests of the Harrisburg Woman's club spent a most enjoyable afternoon yesterday listening to the music of "Brigadoon" as sung by Mrs. Pat Sullivan, Mrs. Herman Davis, Mrs. Clayton Slack, and the chairman of the program, Mrs. D. H. Hiller, accompanied by Mrs. Hudson Mudge at the piano.

Mrs. Hiller told the story of "Brigadoon" which is about a Scottish village that is under a spell and is allowed to awake only one week each hundred years, and how two young American men were caught up in the strange happenings in this village during one of their weeks of activity.

The song "Brigadoon" was sung by the four women after which the soloists sang "Waitin' for My Dearie," "I'll Go Home With Bonnie Jean," "The Heather on the Hill," "Come to Me, Bend to Me," and "It's Almost Like Being in Love."

Mrs. Hiller introduced Mrs. R. J. Morman who gave a lovely devotion, telling the story of the painting, "The Praying Hands." Miss Peggy Strader gave a brief account of her week at music camp which was sponsored by the Woman's club.

The president, Mrs. E. Bishop Hill, presided over the business meeting which opened with Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. Ray Johnson. Mrs. Hugh Walker read the secretary's report and Mrs. Hudson Mudge gave a report on the treasury. Mrs. Charles Gates was elected as a member to the local club.

The members introduced their guests which included Mrs. Aud Turner, Mrs. Clyde Webber, Mrs. Loy Barger, Mrs. Ira Cozart, Mrs. John Emerson, Mrs. Eugene Neihaus, Mrs. Anderson Strader and Peggy.

Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Ed Creek.

Presbyterian Women's Guild Reviews Records Of First Meetings

The Presbyterian Women's Guild met at the church on Wednesday, Jan. 9, for its first social of the year with Mrs. Paul Halbersleben presiding.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Oscar Hanning. The program, entitled "In This New Year," was in charge of Mrs. Halbersleben who after a very inspiring message concerning the year ahead in the work of the guild turned the meeting over to Mrs. Hudson Mudge and Miss Grace Collier.

Records of the first guilds and circle meetings were read by Mrs. Mudge. Many present had participated in these first meetings of the present guild and a general discussion and many humorous anecdotes were recalled.

Miss Collier read from records of the Missionary and Aid Societies of 50 years ago. It was the time of the horse and buggy, the time of five cent dues per meeting, of the pean picking parties, church socials and bazaars.

Everyone present enjoyed these interesting old records of the past day. Mrs. Clarence Bosket gave the Year Book of Prayer.

Refreshments of cookies and coffee were served.

W. H. (Pat) Malone, insurance adjuster who is frequently in Harrisburg, underwent surgery for a stomach ulcer Monday at the Barnes hospital, St. Louis. He is in room 410 in the Wohl building.

Thompsonville Couple Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Doss

Miss Virginia Ruth McClerren and Ben Doss, both of Thompsonville, exchanged wedding vows in a quiet ceremony on Saturday, Dec. 29, at 3 p. m., at the First Methodist church in Thompsonville. The Elder Harvey Kimmel officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style, street length dress of winter white brocade with a scooped, rounded neckline and fitted elbow length sleeves. The headress worn by the bride was a band of white feathers with a short veil sprinkled with rhinestones. She carried a white Bible covered with gardenias and streamers of white ribbon tied in love knots.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Peggy McClerren. Her dress of velvet red lace over red taffeta was fashioned similar to her sister's. She wore red lace mitts and head band and carried a colonial bouquet of red and white variegated carnations with red ribbon streamers.

The bridegroom's best man was his brother, Terry J. Doss, who is stationed with the Air Force in Puerto Rico.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Wayne Shaw played "If I Loved You."

STORM CENTER—"Baby Doll," the movie that has sparked a storm of protest from coast-to-coast, may help put Hollywood behind the censorship eight-ball again, according to ace Hollywood reporter Erskine Johnson. Not completely because of the nature of the picture, but because it was released about the time that the film industry announced liberal revisions in its Production Code. The revisions also brought protests. One of the most criticized parts of "Baby Doll" are the scenes, like that above, where Baby Doll Carson McKorkle (Carroll Baker) writhes under the seductive wiles of Eli Wallach, playing a cotton-gin manager seeking revenge on Baby Doll's husband.

Festive Crowd Overflows State Armory at Governor's Ball

SPRINGFIELD — A festive crowd of more than 6,000 turned out Monday night to pay their respects to Illinois youthful Gov. William G. Stratton and other newly inaugurated state officials.

They overflowed the State Armory, where the governor and the official party were escorted to boxes on the armory stage, into the Capitol rotunda.

The lively music of the Duke Ellington and Griff Williams orchestras provided music for the governor's ball. The Frank York orchestra held forth in the Capitol rotunda, where teen-agers were invited to dance.

Stratton left his box to dance with his wife, Shirley, and his two daughters, Sandra, 20, and Diana, 17. Other members of the official party also danced briefly on the crowded Armory floor.

Senators Ask Probe of Gasoline, Fuel Price Hikes

WASHINGTON — Two senators—a Republican and a Democrat—are calling for a Senate investigation of increases in gas and fuel oil prices.

Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) announced he is drafting a resolution that would create a special Senate committee to do the job.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) called on the Senate Banking and Currency Committee to do it.

Earlier, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) said the government should step in if necessary to prevent "a fuel oil price gouge on Americans."

The Justice Department only last week announced an investigation of the price increases. The department wants to know if the major oil firms raised prices according to some agreement. That would be illegal.

Credit Card is New Service of Telephone Company

America is living in a credit economy today. More and more people have charge accounts, borrow more money to buy cars, washers, TV sets, clothing and a host of other things—on time. Now, the credit-minded American can even charge his telephone calls.

According to Millard Lynch, manager of the General Telephone Company of Illinois, long distance calls can now be made on a pay-later basis. With a telephone credit card, subscribers can call from any phone to any other phone in America, and have the charges deferred to their regular monthly bills.

"The telephone credit card is 'made to order' for businessmen," said Mr. Lynch. "Primarily, it helps calls go through faster and easier. All you have to do is give the operator your Credit Card number. This eliminates the annoyance of fumbling for change or getting a pocketful before placing a toll call. It has proved a real convenience for men who must use the telephone while at a client's office or friend's home, since it saves the embarrassment of asking to use another's phone and paying for the call."

Credit cards issued by the General Telephone Company of Illinois are also honored by the Bell System and the country's 4,100 independent companies.

Mr. Lynch said that since their introduction, Credit Cards have skyrocketed in popularity.

Tribute

Andorra, tiny principality between France and Spain, pays annual tribute to its co-rulers. The Bishop of Urgel receives six hams, six cheeses, 12 hens and 460 pesetas (about $12), while the president of France receives only $2.80.

THE STORY: Alex Ward had his first fight with Francy Knapp. Francy is manager of the hospital as well as widow of its founder, but knows nothing about medicine. She disagrees with Alex's plans for treating a patient because his method is different from that her late husband would have used.

XII

Alex did a careful and thorough job of explaining the use of a New-feld pin upon a broken femur. He went upstairs and brought down one of the long steel spikes to show to her; he explained how it was inserted at an angle—

"Jabbed in through the flesh?" she asked in distaste.

"Surgically inserted, under an-esthesia," said Alex patiently.

Francy was shaking her head from side to side and her lips were pressed tightly together. "I have the exact book which my husband consulted when he had to treat a broken hip," she told Alex. "I'll get it for you, and you can make a cast just as he used to do."

"I hip spica?" asked Alex in genuine horror. "Francy, are you going to try to tell me..."

"You're young enough to be told a few things, young man!"

"I'm young enough to be told a lot of things," said Alex coldly, his face dead white. "But not about surgical matters, by a woman who has had no medical training."

Alex walked as rapidly in the other direction. Sue scampering at his heels, the white caps at the floor desk leaning into a tight bouquet.

By then he had reached his own small office; he sat down at his desk, pulled the phone toward him and asked the switchboard to give him the long distance operator.

He spoke quietly and concisely, his hand held the phone as steadily as a metal vice. His other fist lay upon the desk blotter, perfectly still, and hard, the bones showing lard-white at each knuckle.

"This is Dr. Ward at House Spring Hospital," Sue heard him say when he had reached Mrs. Reudinger's daughter. "I have looked at the X-rays. Your mother has a fracture, and I should like your agreement to my sending her to St. Louis for treatment by a bone specialist."

He talked for five minutes more, then put the phone down quietly, and glanced up at Sue. She looked sick...

They went up to the patient's room; Alex told the nurse to get her ready to be moved; they alerted the ambulance; Alex talked to the St. Louis hospital by phone, and put in a call for the specialist. He did this at the lower floor desk phone, and when he finished he looked around into Francy's beautiful and angry face.

"The ambulance orderly told me..." she began; her voice trembled, then broke, and she flushed.

"That we are dismissing Mrs. Reudinger," Alex said for her. "It seems the only thing to do. She needs surgical attention."

"You..."

"No, I will not make a cast according to a book published in 1923. Since I did not care to do my sort of surgery against your wishes, I told the family that the proper care was not available here."

He stood up, and walked around Francy, his step unhurried and steady. Sue stayed at his side.

At the next station, the floor nurse rose from her desk to let Dr. Ward sit down; he took the chart and opened it. "Have you looked at those plates?"

"No. Oh, Alex, I know you're dead right! But just the same—"

"I made Francy angry, twice."

"The second time was the fatal blow. She can't take being hurt in the pocket-book."

"I expect not. And you can tell her that I was able and ready to do the surgery, also that the fee for a pin is generally around a thousand dollars."

She offered to see Mrs. Reudinger off and get a nurse to go with her, and Alex went over to the treatment unit where Miss Black was waiting for him, by appointment.

She was waiting for him in the consultation room; the nurse had her charts ready, the record of treatments already given, and their results. Alex spoke pleasantly to the golden-haired woman, and sat down.

She was wearing the same beige slacks, black pull-over and suit coat which she had worn on her first visit to the hospital. She alternated this costume with a dark blue suit; she owned a gray rain-coat. That seemed to be her wardrobe.

He picked up the record form. "Miss Black, I feel it is only honest to tell you that you are not, in my opinion, very sick."

"But—"

"I feel that you are recovering from whatever illness brought on this condition, and my opinion is that your paralysis will leave voluntarily."

She regarded him steadily. Most women, told that sort of news, would have exclaimed aloud with relief and pleasure. "Are you dismissing me, Doctor?" Miss Black asked quietly.

"No. But since you have said that finances are important with you—"

Her hand extended to him. And her eyes warmed. "I appreciate what you have in mind, doctor. But for now—well—it helps in many ways to come here for baths and the massage..."

She walked out, his eyes following her. She did walk much better—and she certainly was a beautiful woman. A strange one to find in Blue Jay Cove.

IPAC Reports November Cost Of $12,851,529

SPRINGFIELD 14—The Illinois Public Aid Commission, which is seeking a 30 million dollar emergency appropriation from the Legislature, reported today its five assistance programs cost $12,851,529 for 274,018 recipients during November 1956.

The November figures were higher than those for October and for November 1955.

The October cost was $12,849,904 for 271,055 persons and the November 1955 cost was $12,505,323 for 270,318 persons.

The general relief program cost $2,790,048 for 71,557 recipients; old age assistance $5,512,392 for 89,640 recipients; blind assistance $238,447 for 3,474 recipients; disability assistance $783,618 for 9,966 recipients and aid to dependent children $3,527,024 for 100,000 recipients.

The IPAC's 280 million dollar appropriation for the current biennium ending June 30 is running out, and the commission will have bills introduced in the Legislature for a 30 million dollar deficiency appropriation, with the likelihood that another 6 million dollars deficiency will be asked later.

Kentucky Seabee Drowns in Antarctic Deepfreeze Mishap

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica — U. S. Navy divers attempted today to recover the body of Seabee Ollie Barnett Bartley, Sloughers, Ky., who drowned Monday when a huge snow vehicle plunged through an ice shelf into 30 feet of freezing water.

Five other men in the "weasel" ice tractor escaped through the hatches and struggled back onto the ice, while a sixth jumped clear when the thin ice began to crack. The accident happened just below Hut Point within sight of a cairn erected in memory of Seabee Richard T. Williams, who died when the tractor he was driving crashed through the ice a little more than a year ago.

Bartley, 22, was the eighth man to die so far in the Operation Deepfreeze Antarctic expedition.

First Christian Men Are Entertained With Goose Dinner

Following the dinner there were a number of informal talks and general conversation.

Abandon Hope for Missing Ship, Crew

LONDON — Hope was abandoned today for the 35 crewmen aboard the 7,214-ton British freighter Nordic Star, missing since Dec. 27 on a voyage from Philadelphia to Le Havre, France.

A spokesman for the London agents for the freighter said "she must have been overwhelmed" in the gale which swept the Atlantic after Christmas. The ship reported its position in the mid-Atlantic in its last radio message.

Pin Boy Admits Strangling Girl

MANTADOR, N. D. — Authorities today planned further questioning of a 17-year-old pin boy who they said admitted strangling Rosemary Mertes, 14, shortly after leaving a bowling alley where they both worked.

Authorities identified the youth as Harold Joseph Nepper, who also was the first person questioned about the slaying. Nepper, a high school senior at nearby Hankinson, worked as a pin boy and the dead girl as a foul spotter in the bowling alley.

Officials said Nepper had not offered any reason for the crime.

The confession climaxed a week of increasing tension that saw more than 100 of the town's 138 residents brought in for questioning. Neighbors were silent about the atrocity, fearful that one of their friends might be the murderer.

Rosemary's battered and strangled body was found in a clump of trees surrounded by snow covered fields near here last Tuesday morning. The girl had been killed with her own scarf, and her muddled clothing indicated the killing was a sex crime, although she had not been raped.

State Approves Proposed Water Plant at Equality

The proposed Equality water plant has received approval of the state health department it has been announced by Phillip DeVous, mayor of the village.

The new water supply, to be obtained from wells drilled near Junction, is high in iron content and the new plant must include an iron removal unit, Mr. DeVous stated today.

The pumps and iron removal unit will be constructed on a 15-foot high mound, placing the equipment one foot above the high water level of the 1937 flood in the area.

The present Equality water supply is inadequate and it has been necessary to drill new wells, approximately 4 miles east of the present wells.

It is hoped all paper work can be completed and actual construction started in the early spring.

Warns Polio is Not Licked; Funds Needed

CHICAGO — The president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Monday night that polio is not licked yet and that the need for additional funds by the foundation is "desperate."

Basil O'Connor told members of a Cook County Chicago advisory board that it would be taking a "dangerous position" to assume that paralytic polio has been whipped.

O'Connor said that at present there are 80,000 polio patients for whom help is "most urgently needed." He said that there were about 16,000 new cases in the nation during 1956.

He is survived by his wife, Loretta, and his mother, Mrs. Verna Alsop, of Johnston City.

Eisenhower and Macmillan Exchange Greetings

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain exchanged messages of friendship today harking back to their association during the North African campaign of World War II.

The President sent "warmest congratulations" to Macmillan on his becoming prime minister, succeeding Sir Anthony Eden who resigned last week.

Macmillan replied with a statement that he looks forward "to working with you once again" in furthering the friendship which started when the President was commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty released the messages to newsmen accompanying the President on a tour of southwestern drought areas.

U. S. May Have to Fight if Doctrine Not Approved: Dulles

By United Press
Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today there is "very great likelihood" this country will have to fight in the Middle East if Congress refuses to approve the Eisenhower Doctrine.

The President wants Congress to adopt a resolution authorizing him to use force, if necessary, to prevent Soviet aggression in the Middle East.

If Congress approves the resolution, Dulles said, there would be "very much less" than a 50-50 chance that the United States would have to go to war in the crisis-ridden region.

Order All-Out Police Hunt for Missing Girls

CHICAGO — A special 150-man police "task force" today concentrated on a search for two missing teen-age sisters whom authorities fear may have met with foul play.

The girls, Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, disappeared Dec. 28 after attending a movie starring their idol, singer Elvis Presley, for the 11th time.

Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor ordered the all-out hunt in a north side area where the girls last were seen. The move indicated a change of attitude by police officials, who at first wrote off the disappearance as a possible romantic escapade.

"We don't know whether these girls are dead or alive," O'Connor said. "We must do everything possible to find them."

O'Connor said the force will make a house to house check in the area of the Brighton Theater, where the girls attended the Presley picture with friends. The sisters remained behind when the others left because they wanted to see the show one more time.

Police have been jittery about cases of missing juveniles since the unsolved slaying of three Chicago schoolboys in October, 1955. The boys' beaten and nude bodies were found in a forest preserve ditch, touching off one of the greatest city-wide manhunts in Chicago history.

History of Shawneetown Bank Subject of John Allen Talk on WSIL

John W. Allen, feature writer on historical points of interest and incidents, will present the story of the Shawneetown Bank on WSIL-TV, Channel 22, Harrisburg at 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Jan. 16.

The bank established at Shawneetown in December 1816 by legislative action was the first legally established bank in Illinois. It played a prominent role in the history of the state as a bank of issue and depository for funds received by the U. S. land offices from sale of lands and made loans to the state, including one for erection of the statehouse at Springfield.

Allen, until recently curator of the Southern Illinois University Museum, has been honored as "Mr. Historian of Southern Illinois." He is a native of Saline County and a former school administrator in Harrisburg, Eldorado and Fairfield.

The 15-minute telecast on the Shawneetown Bank is in the "Visiting Southern Illinois" series, sponsored by Southern Illinois Incorporated and WSIL-TV as a public service feature.

Nixon Offers Ride To Group Waiting In Cold for Bus

WASHINGTON (UP)—A big limousine pulled up to a corner Monday where several persons waited in the cold for a bus.

Then Vice President Richard M. Nixon leaned out of one of the limousine's back windows and asked if anyone wanted a ride to the Capitol.

Mary Alice Maraz, one of the five who accepted, said she "almost fainted."

Congress Fight Looms On Army's Reserve Action

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sweeping changes ordered by the Army in the military reserve program threatened today to touch off a new fight in Congress over how youths should fulfill their military obligations.

The Army's plan would reduce the reserve obligation of tens of thousands of young men and in the future open up an escape path from the draft.

Congressmen on the House Armed Services Committee who specialize in reserve affairs questioned, however, whether the Army could carry out its plan without first getting approval of Congress.

Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La), chairman of a House armed services subcommittee that drew up the basic reserve law, ordered hearings started on Feb. 4 and threatened to upset the Pentagon's changes by law if necessary in event the subcommittee decides the changes are unwise.

The National Guard Association, which has powerful friends on Capitol Hill, also was up in arms. It strongly opposes a provision in the new program requiring that all National Guard enlistees after April 1 must take six months active duty training.

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the Association, said the provision was part of the "conspiracy" between the Defense Department, Army and Budget Bureau "to put the National Guard out of business."

Guardsmen are not required to take active duty training now. But they must remain in the Guard until 28 to avoid the draft.

The revision is in line with a new Defense Department policy of placing emphasis on quality rather than quantity in the nation's reserves.

Legislators Cool to Stratton's Constitutional Convention Plan

SPRINGFIELD — Legislative reaction to Gov. William G. Stratton's inaugural message ranged today from Republican approval, to Democratic "he's stealing our stuff," to bipartisan "it's going to be tough to pass it all."

Republican House Majority Leader John W. Lewis Jr. said Stratton's message represented "four years of progress delivered by a man who deeply feels his responsibility."

But even Lewis was hesitant about the governor's proposal to abolish the elective offices of state auditor and treasurer and make them appointive by the governor. Lewis said he would favor such proposals if it was proved they would improve the efficiency of government, but not just as a means of shortening the election ballot.

Cool Toward Convention

Lewis also indicated he was less than enthusiastic about the governor's recommendation for a constitutional convention to rewrite the 1870 Constitution.

Republican Senate President Pro Tem Arthur J. Bidwell, River Forest, said he doubted that the constitutional convention proposal would get serious consideration at this session of the Legislature.

He said he believed the governor was more concerned with passage of constitutional amendments for annual, rather than biennial, legislative sessions and for judicial reform, than for the convention.

Bidwell said he did not see any reason for a tax increase at this session. Stratton said he would oppose any increase that was not earmarked for schools and welfare programs.

On the Democratic side, Rep. Paul Powell, powerful downstate leader from Vienna, accused Stratton of taking several Democratic proposals and making them his own.

Powell said the Democrats under Gov. Adlai Stevenson had proposed a constitutional convention, that Democrats for years had been pushing for the 18-year-old vote, and that Powell himself last session attempted to have the last sales tax increase earmarked in part for schools.

Stratton and the Republicans opposed all these measures when they were sponsored by Democrats, Powell said.

Rep. Clyde L. Choate (D-Anna), House minority whip, expressed dissatisfaction that Stratton did not propose or even mention a bonus for Korean War veterans. Choate said he would sponsor such a bonus at this session.

Powell said he would prefer to see the auditor remain elective and "responsible to the people."

"What are we going to do if we get somebody as governor sometime who wanted to do a little finagling," Powell said. He said, however, he was for some change in the state's fiscal setup and would not oppose appointment of the auditor and treasurer to the point of being an obstructionist.

Wants April Primary

Powell said he was opposed to changing the primary election date from April to June because farmers were reluctant to leave their fields in June. He said he would support an increase in the number of state policemen as "long as they leave them on-the-highways where they belong and don't make constables or private chauffeurs out of them."

CONSTIPATED? New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

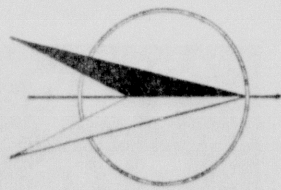

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moistur-

Looking At Sports

Had to build a bigger circle to hold all the winners in last week's "You Pick 'em". There were four tied for honors, each with 8-2 records.

The co-winners were Rollie Moore and David Moore, 215 North McKinley, Harrisburg; Larry Van Hoy, 301 West Walnut, Carrier Mills; and an entry from Barb & Anita — Barbara Pulliam and Anita Peyton, Daily Register employees who live in Galatia.

Rollie missed by picking Centralia over West Frankfort and Carmi over McLeansboro. David was wrong in selecting Ridgway over Galatia and Carmi.

Van Hoy slipped up by picking Ridgway and Benton over Galatia and Harrisburg respectively.

Anita and Barb missed by selecting Benton to beat Harrisburg and Murphysboro to take Carbondale.

Three games — Ridgway-Galatia, Benton - Harrisburg, Carmi-McLeansboro—definitely were the stoppers to this week's large group of players in "You Pick 'em". And of the two picking McLeansboro to win over Carmi, neither predicted a decisive 20-point margin. Van Hoy picked a 47-41 score and Barb and Anita predicted a 63-57 McLeansboro victory.

Will skip the "You Pick 'em" again this week as there are several tournaments listed and regular scheduled games are hard to find.

Among the tournaments scheduled for this week: At Norris City a four-team blind draw on Jan. 15-16 with Norris City, Carmi, McLeansboro and Albion;

Greater Egyptian conference tourney at Ridgway Jan. 15-18 including Rosiclare, Ridgway, Galatia, Cave-in-Rock, Equality, Shawneetown and Pope County;

At Murphysboro Jan. 16-19 with Carbondale, Trico, Metropolis, Du Quoin, Chester, Christopher, Zeigler and Murphysboro entered;

At Anna Jan. 15-18 with an entry list of Attucks, Charleston, Mo., Hurst-Bush, Mounds Douglass, Shawnee, Carbondale University high, Elkhaville and Anna;

Brookport, Paducah St. Mary's, Tamm, Ullin, Vienna, Goreville, Joppa and Carterville meet at Joppa, with opening play Jan. 15 and continuing through Jan. 18.

Rosiclare's basketball boys are a rather superstitious lot and insist on using the same old, beat up scorebook that has been used in recording so many victories over the past two seasons.

The scorebook is falling apart, in fact has already come apart, but the leaves are held together after a fashion by a safety pin and bent paper clip.

Greater Egyptian conference standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Rosiclare	7	0	1.000
Ridgway	6	2	.750
Galatia	5	3	.625
Equality	4	4	.500
Cave-in-Rock	4	4	.500
Pope County	1	6	.143
Shawneetown	0	8	.000

All seven games of the Greater Egyptian conference tournament at Ridgway will be broadcast by WEBQ over both AM and FM, it has been announced.

The tournament starts tonight with only one game. There are two games scheduled for each of the next three nights.

Tonight's game starts at 8 o'clock and WEBQ will be on the air from the Ridgway gym at 7:35. Tip-off time the remaining three nights is 7 o'clock and WEBQ will be on 5 minutes before game time—6:55.

Ken Hamilton and Elmer Gladson will handle the broadcasts.

Kansas Upset By Iowa State; Kentucky Loses

By United Press
Thundering upsets that rocked both—Kansas and Kentucky left North Carolina today with the only perfect record among the nation's major college basketball teams and with a golden opportunity to seize the No. 1 national ranking.

Lightning struck at Ames, Iowa, in the form of a last-second, 20-foot basket by Don Medsker to give Iowa State a 39-37 upset of Kansas, the country's No. 1 team, for Kansas' first loss of the year in 13 games.

And at New Orleans, Tulane led almost all the way to upset Kentucky, the nation's No. 3 team, 68-60, for the first time since 1938—leaving Coach Cliff Wells to gasp, "This hour will do us the rest of our life."

Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, Kansas' sensational sophomore who leads the nation's scorers, was held to just 17 points by Iowa State but, even so, nearly saved the Jayhawks when he tied the score at 37-37 on a pair of free throws with seven seconds remaining to play.

Sweet Revenge

But then Iowa State drove down court and the 6-foot, 8-inch Medsker cut loose with his game-winning shot from near the jump circle as the game ended. It was sweet revenge for Iowa State, which bowed to Kansas, 58-57, in a game in the Big Seven pre-season tournament last month.

Five-foot, 10-inch Gary Thompson of the Cyclones stole the show from the gangling Chamberlain, piloting the slow-down strategy by frequently holding the ball in mid-court while his mates jockeyed for position and also taking game scoring honors with 18 points.

For Kentucky, Monday night's upset was the third loss in 14 games. Tulane went in front, 8-6, in the early minutes, boosted its margin to as much as 17 points and then stood off a Kentucky rally that cut the deficit to 60-56 with 1:25 remaining. The Green Wave used only one substitute, and he didn't come in until the final 42 seconds.

Tulane, hitting 39 per cent of its shots, was led by 6-4 Calvin Grosscup of Auburn, Ind., with 23 points while Jerry Cox topped Kentucky with 16.

86 Eligibles Announced For Hambletonian Stakes At Du Quoin Fair Aug. 27

DU QUOIN, ILL. (AP) — A list of 86 eligibles for the initial running of the Hambletonian Stakes Aug. 27 at the Du Quoin State Fair was announced today with Hickory Smoke the early favorite to win harness racing's most coveted prize.

It will be the first time the Hambletonian has not been staged at Goshen, N. Y., since 1930 when the late Bill Cane took over the Kentucky Derby of trotting. Before that it was held alternately at Syracuse, N. Y., and Lexington, Ky., for its first four runnings.

It will be run here for at least two years, the length of the contract granted E. J. Hayes, president and general manager of the Du Quoin State Fair, by the Hambletonian Society.

Hayes, who had unsuccessfully for the race many times, has agreed to put up 45 per cent of the horse-man's fees or $32,000, whichever is greater. Thus, with 15 starters, the 32nd running of the Hambletonian would be worth a total of about $104,000.

Hickory Smoke, jointly owned by L. B. Sheppard and A. C. Mudge of Hanover, Pa., was the 2-year-old trotting champion of 1956 when he won 11 of his 24 races. He cost the partners $15,000 when they purchased him in mid-August last year and earned $35,183. His best time mark was 2:03 1-5 set in the Walnut Hall Stud Stakes at Lexington.

Expect New Records

Several other outstanding trotters eligible for the Hambletonian include Bond Hanover, Cassin Hanover, Hoot Song, Philip Frost, Major Newport, Rhonda Hanover, Starita and Dolph Hanover.

And when they line up for the first of three heats in the trotting classic new records for the event are expected to be set.

For the conventional Du Quoin mile is considered about four seconds faster than the kite-shaped Good Time track at Goshen with its three sharp turns. Tital Hanover, sire of Hickory Smoke, won the Hambletonian in 2:04 in 1945 but later that same month turned in a 1:58 mile at Du Quoin.

The Hambletonian record of two minutes flat was set in 1947 by Hoot Mon, two of whose offspring are considered the strongest threats to Hickory Smoke.

Bold Hanover, a son of Hoot Mon owned by Sol A. Camp of Shafter, Calif., earned more money a year ago when he hauled down $45,691. This consistent black colt won 11 of his 27 races with nine seconds and three thirds.

Mantle Rejects Yankee Offer

By United Press
Mickey Mantle is shooting for a $60,000-or-better salary and by way of warming up for it he has fired his first contract right back at the Yankees—unsigned.

The Yanks' first offer, containing a $5,000 raise, left him cold, Mantle admitted Monday night in Baltimore when he was honored as baseball's outstanding hitter in 1956.

"I sent the contract right back to them," he said. "It wasn't signed, so I guess they knew how I felt about it."

While the 25-year-old center field sensation who won the American League's "triple crown" last year did not reveal terms of the contract he sent back, it was learned that it called for a $5,000 raise over his 1956 salary estimated at $32,500.

The Yankee offer would boost Mickey's pay to $37,500 this year. "I haven't announced the figure I have in mind to any of the newspapers and I don't intend to," Mantle declared. "But that contract they sent me was nowhere near it."

As a batted box-office attraction who bopped .353, drove in 130 runs and hit 52 homers to lead the league in all those departments last season, as well as win the circuit's Most Valuable Player award, Mantle feels he's entitled to at least $60,000.

The Yankees realized he probably would turn down the first offer but they wanted to establish a price from which they could bargain. The highest-salaried Yankee player currently is Yogi Berra, who will receive an estimated $55,000 this year. Joe DiMaggio's $100,000-per annum was the highest player salary ever paid by the club. Mantle and the Yankees probably will get together in the $45,000-$50,000 range.

Next move is up to the Yankees.

Illinois Smothers Indiana, 112-91, in Scoring Binge; Ohio State Beats Gophers

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State ruled Big Ten basketball today but an onrushing Illinois team threatened to make it an uneasy reign.

The Buckeyes with big Frank Howard again leading the attack toppled Minnesota, 85-73, Monday night to mark their third straight victory over a conference foe without defeat.

But the Illini, rapidly recovering championship poise after an opening game stumble, went on a wild scoring binge to smother Indiana, 112-91. It was the third straight win also for the Illini.

Their 3-1 record was matched by Purdue, which defeated Northwestern, 77-57, and Michigan, which beat Wisconsin, 71-62.

Coach Harry Combes' Illini crew was led by Don Ohl and Harvey Schmidt who pumped in 25 points each in a contest that saw five scoring records topple.

As a batted box-office attraction who bopped .353, drove in 130 runs and hit 52 homers to lead the league in all those departments last season, as well as win the circuit's Most Valuable Player award, Mantle feels he's entitled to at least $60,000.

The Yankees realized he probably would turn down the first offer but they wanted to establish a price from which they could bargain. The highest-salaried Yankee player currently is Yogi Berra, who will receive an estimated $55,000 this year. Joe DiMaggio's $100,000-per annum was the highest player salary ever paid by the club. Mantle and the Yankees probably will get together in the $45,000-$50,000 range.

Next move is up to the Yankees.
